About Us

The National Center for Youth Law envisions a future where each and every young person in foster care, experiencing homelessness, or under the jurisdiction of probation, graduates from high school with a wide array of possibilities for their future. We join in solidarity with a growing movement across the country to ensure equitable opportunities and outcomes for ALL young people.

To achieve this shared vision, it is imperative that leaders from multiple public systems – child welfare, education, mental health, probation, judicial agencies, and the rich landscape of community organizations – band together with persistence and collaboration to build the conditions under which:

- Children and youth are engaged in learning, empowered to create futures they are excited about, and have champions in their corner for the long run.
- Parents, family members, mentors, and other trusted adults are fully invested in their role as education champions and are consistently and meaningfully supported.
- System and community leaders collaborate deeply on a shared vision that lifts up the voices of young people and helps realize equitable opportunities and outcomes for all students.
- Professionals working directly with young people in support of their education are appreciated, supported, and connected with one another.

Using this Resource Guide

In support of this vision, we have compiled a Community Resource Guide of available programming and services for young people in Santa Clara County. This guide can be utilized by community members or service providers to connect young people, especially those involved in the juvenile justice system, with programs, services, and other community resources. Resources are categorized by type and may appear more than once throughout the Community Resource Guide, in each of the relevant service categories.

Recognizing the fluidity in available programming and services, this Community Resource Guide will exist electronically and can be continually updated for ongoing accuracy.

ORGANIZATION	PROGRAM	DESCRIPTION
Alum Rock Counseling Center		Offers services to promote the healthy development of at-risk minors through a combination of educational assistance, youth & family counseling, youth development/character building activities, violence prevention education, and crisis intervention services, all of which are designed to be linguistically and culturally appropriate. Offers nearly a dozen separate programs for high-risk youth and their families. Programs, offered individually or in various combinations focus on: early childhood development and parent coaching, middle school student mentoring, life skills development, truancy reduction, gang-related services, mobile crisis response and counseling, case management, child abuse and neglect prevention and community outreach. Programs Include: Competency Development Services (Formerly known as RJP), FIRST 5: Children's Services for Ages 0-5 (Home Visitation), Mobile Crisis Response & Counseling (MCRC), Crisis Intervention for Youth (CIPY), Truancy Abatement Services, Middle School Mentoring & Support Program, Prevention & Early Intervention Services, School Linked Services, Outpatient Services, Therapeutic Behavioral Services, Parent Advocate Program, Counseling Internships, and Alum Rock 24/7 CRISIS HOTLINE: 408-294-0579.
Bay Area Legal Aid		Provides low-income clients with free civil legal assistance, including legal advice and counsel, effective referrals, and legal representation. Issue areas include: Housing, Family Law, Public Benefits, Education, Consumer Law, and Health Care Access.
Big Brother Big Sisters of America	Community Based	The program requires a minimum one-year commitment from Big, Little and the Little's caregiver. Matches meet two to four times per month, on days and times convenient to both Big and Little. Children ages 6 and up are referred to our program by parents, guardians, counselors, social workers, teachers and family friends, and paired with a carefully screened adult mentor through a comprehensive matching process. Mentors are provided with training, support and ongoing coaching from agency staff to help nurture a healthy, lasting relationship between each Big and Little.
	Workplace Mentoring Partnerships	By partnering with Big Brothers Big Sisters, companies are making an investment in developing the next generation of leaders. Workplace Mentoring Partnerships rely on our signature one-to-one mentoring relationships but kids go to a corporate workplace for mentoring visits and group activities. Local kids are matched with company employees who help them become excited about the future and invested in their career paths. In this way, employees create lasting relationships and strong ties with the local community on behalf of their company. Our partners have included major companies like the Gap, Google, Zendesk, and Comcast.
Bill Wilson Center	Transitional Housing Program	Bill Wilson Center's Transitional Housing Program provides comprehensive services for homeless youth ages 18-24, including young single parents and their children. Young people live in shared, supervised apartments or houses throughout the County while they receive counseling, independent living skills training, parenting classes and employment services. The goal of the 12-18 month long program is to help youth become self-sufficient adults with strong connections to the community. Like all Bill Wilson Center programs, the emphasis of this program is on self-direction and self-determination.
	LGBTQ Transitional Housing Services	Bill Wilson Center's LGBTQ Transitional Living Program is designed to provide a safe and accepting environment for young adults, ages 18-21, who are homeless, often having been kicked out and rejected by their families due to their sexual orientation. The home can house up to six young adults for up to 18 months who are receiving services and supports.

Fresh Lifelines for Youth	CAFA Mentor Program	For more than 15 years in Santa Clara County, FLY has trained and matched adult volunteer mentors with youth on probation. The mentors meet weekly with the youth to support them in developing new attitudes, behaviors, and ambitions. Each mentor/mentee match has a FLY case manager for support and also attends monthly group activities organized by FLY. Recently, in partnership with the Probation department, FLY added a court advocacy component to address the fact that youth of color were failing a specific type of probation at significantly higher rates than white youth. FLY's CAFA (Court Appointed Friend and Advocate) Mentor Program helped achieve a dramatic turnaround in the failure rates. Because of this success, all mentors are now granted legal standing to act as advocates for their mentees in the courtroom and at schools.
	Law Program	In the FLY Law Program, our staff and highly trained volunteers teach a fun, interactive 8- to 12-week course using our nationally recognized law-related education curriculum. The curriculum covers relevant topics such as police encounters, accomplice liability, three strikes, theft, vandalism, drugs, gangs, and police arrests. The curriculum is interesting and engaging to the youth, and is an excellent vehicle for us to teach critical life skills like anger management, problem solving, conflict resolution, and resisting negative peer pressure.
	Leadership Program	After completing FLY's 12-week Law Program, youth who need additional support to change their lives are invited to join the Leadership Training Program. During the program year, youth begin by completing an assessment that identifies their greatest barriers to living a crime-free, self-sufficient life. A FLY case manager then works with the youth to create and execute an individualized plan to address these barriers and build skills to sustain healthy behaviors. Case managers work one-on-one with youth as they set and achieve goals.  Youth also receive leadership training in groups, kicking off the year with a wilderness retreat that builds self-confidence, communication skills, collaboration, and positive peer relationships. Together youth in the program engage in pro-social activities and plan service learning projects where they discover how to build on and redirect their strengths as positive leaders.
	Middle School Program	FLY's Middle School Law Program, which is largely adapted from FLY's nationally recognized Law Program for high school-aged youth, is an 8- to 12-week Law Related Education (LRE) and life skills course that uses role-play, debates, and group discussion to capture the interest of middle school-aged youth, educate them about the law and the consequences of crimes, and build skills like anger management, problem solving, communication, and resisting negative peer pressure. Highly trained volunteers and FLY staff teach the course in teams of 1-2, developing rapport with youth and giving them access to positive role models. The course covers a range of topics, including theft, vandalism, bullying, drugs and alcohol, decision making, Proposition 21, and gangs. The program takes place at selected schools in Santa Clara County.

Youth Programs

Big Brother Big Sisters of America

Community Based

The program requires a minimum one-year commitment from Big, Little and the Little's caregiver. Matches meet two to four times per month, on days and times convenient to both Big and Little.

Children ages 6 and up are referred to our program by parents, guardians, counselors, social workers, teachers and family friends, and paired with a carefully screened adult mentor through a comprehensive matching process.

Mentors are provided with training, support and ongoing coaching from agency staff to help nurture a healthy, lasting relationship between each Big and Little.

Eligibility: Ages 6-18.

Workplace Mentoring Partnerships

By partnering with Big Brothers Big Sisters, companies are making an investment in developing the next generation of leaders. Workplace Mentoring Partnerships rely on our signature one-to-one mentoring relationships but kids go to a corporate workplace for mentoring visits and group activities. Local kids are matched with company employees who help them become excited about the future and invested in their career paths. In this way, employees create lasting relationships and strong ties with the local community on behalf of their company. Our partners have included major companies like the Gap, Google, Zendesk, and Comcast.

Eligibility: Ages 6-18.

Breakthrough Silicon Valley

6-year intensive college prep/connection program offered to middle school students. Programs include: Middle School Summer Program, Middle School After-School Program, Middle School Advising and High School Options, High School Advising and College Preparation, and Parent Education.

Youth Programs

CMAP (Community Media Access Partnership) TV

Youth Media Works/Youth Media Makers

Youth Media Works / Youth Media Makers is a free digital media program for at-risk youth in South Santa Clara County, equipping them with skills and self-confidence to thrive in the digital age. Youth create their own media projects, build their resumes, and learn new job skills.

Programs include: (1) project-based digital media curricula offered in-class at local continuation high schools,

(2) Youth Media Works after-school program, focused on digital media and workplace readiness skills, and

(3) Youth Media Makers internship program, offering hands-on work experience for youth that have completed our after-school program.

Eligibility: High school youth (ages 14 and up), living in South Santa Clara County (Gilroy, San Martin, & Morgan Hill). Youth must be referred by school or partner agency.

Fresh Lifelines for Youth

CAFA Mentor Program

For more than 15 years in Santa Clara County, FLY has trained and matched adult volunteer mentors with youth on probation. The mentors meet weekly with the youth to support them in developing new attitudes, behaviors, and ambitions. Each mentor/mentee match has a FLY case manager for support and also attends monthly group activities organized by FLY. Recently, in partnership with the Probation department, FLY added a court advocacy component to address the fact that youth of color were failing a specific type of probation at significantly higher rates than white youth. FLY's CAFA (Court Appointed Friend and Advocate) Mentor Program helped achieve a dramatic turnaround in the failure rates. Because of this success, all mentors are now granted legal standing to act as advocates for their mentees in the courtroom and at schools.

Youth Programs

Eligibility: Youth on probation or DEJ.

Law Program

In the FLY Law Program, our staff and highly trained volunteers teach a fun, interactive 8- to 12-week course using our nationally recognized law-related education curriculum. The curriculum covers relevant topics such as police encounters, accomplice liability, three strikes, theft, vandalism, drugs, gangs, and police arrests. The curriculum is interesting and engaging to the youth, and is an excellent vehicle for us to teach critical life skills like anger management, problem solving, conflict resolution, and resisting negative peer pressure.

Leadership Program

After completing FLY's 12-week Law Program, youth who need additional support to change their lives are invited to join the Leadership Training Program. During the program year, youth begin by completing an assessment that identifies their greatest barriers to living a crime-free, self-sufficient life. A FLY case manager then works with the youth to create and execute an individualized plan to address these barriers and build skills to sustain healthy behaviors. Case managers work one-on-one with youth as they set and achieve goals.

Youth also receive leadership training in groups, kicking off the year with a wilderness retreat that builds self-confidence, communication skills, collaboration, and positive peer relationships. Together youth in the program engage in pro-social activities and plan service learning projects where they discover how to build on and redirect their strengths as positive leaders.

Middle School Program

FLY's Middle School Law Program, which is largely adapted from FLY's nationally recognized Law Program for high school-aged youth, is an 8- to 12-week Law Related Education (LRE) and life skills course that uses role-play, debates, and group discussion to capture the interest of middle school-aged youth, educate them about the law and the consequences of crimes, and build skills like anger management, problem solving, communication, and resisting negative peer pressure. Highly trained volunteers and FLY staff teach the course in teams of 1-2, developing rapport with youth and giving them access to positive role models. The course covers a range of topics, including theft, vandalism, bullying, drugs and alcohol, decision making, Proposition 21, and gangs. The program takes place at selected schools in Santa Clara County.

Youth Advisory Council

The YAC is a collaboration between the Probation Department and Fresh Lifelines for Youth (FLY) that brings together a group of formerly juvenile justice engaged youth. The YAC brings the youth voice to the decision making tables in the juvenile justice system by providing input regarding system processes, policies and practices. The YAC provides education to youth and families about the system, sharing their experiences and paths to success and participate in community meetings, commissions and presentations. In return for the YAC member's time, they may receive a variety of services and supports including: professional and leadership development, personal empowerment, social events, stipend and scholarship opportunities.

Eligibility: Formerly juvenile justice engaged youth.

Re-Entry

FLY's Reentry Program is designed for youth who are in longer term incarceration in Santa Clara County. Youth in custody attend a 12-week legal education course taught by FLY staff. Upon release, youth receive intensive one-on-one support from FLY to help with their transition back into the community.

Eligibility: Only open to youth at James Ranch.

Teen Success Inc.

Program that works to break the cycle of poverty by providing targeted and research-based services to teen mothers and supporting them in graduating high school and developing the skills needed to nurture their child's positive development.

Offers 1:1 coaching focused on: mitigating barriers to school attendance and completion; educational navigation to support understanding of educational options and in getting on track towards graduation; development centered parenting skills; and coaching to support goal setting, problem solving, skill building, and self-empowerment.

Offers weekly peer learning group focused on: social emotional learning; parenting education; and reproductive health education.

Eligibility: Teen mothers who are pregnant for the first time or have one child, are 14-19 years old, and have not graduated high school or do not have a GED.

YMCA of Silicon Valley

Youth & Government

Program designed to give students a hands-on experience with the inner workings of California's government. Meet weekly to write bills, practice Parliamentary Procedure, take part in group-bonding activities and attend several conferences and weekend retreats. The highlight of this program is the gathering of more than 2,300 high school students in a five-day mock legislature and court held in the State Capitol and Court buildings in Sacramento.

A nationally recognized program, Youth and Government is a wonderful way for teens to learn about state government, add more experience on college applications and meet and have fun with friends and positive mentors.

Model United Nations

Program in which students act as delegates who research, debate and establish policies, treaties and resolutions focusing on international issues, including disputes between countries, peace-keeping responsibilities, border crises, stabilizing financial markets and dealing with hunger, disease and poverty.

Each delegation is assigned to one or more countries that they represent. Delegates research these countries and come to the Model United Nations Conference as representatives from their assigned countries. Delegates can also be a part of the General Assembly, Security Council, International Court of Justice, the Economic and Social Council or an international press delegation

Meetings typically begin in February.

Technology Program

Offers computer courses in its state-of-the-art technology center for children, teens and adults.

Microsoft Office: (All Ages) Teaches the basics and then the tricks and tips of using this software.

Computer Basics: (All Ages) The class is designed to help beginners feel comfortable using a computer, the internet, and basic computer software. Learn how to use the mouse, keyboard, and other computer components in a safe and friendly environment.

The College Application Process: (Ages 12-18) College applications are a confusing and daunting process for most students and their families. Discover the techniques for finding the college or university that best fits your educational goals, finding scholarship sources, and improving your chances of being accepted into the college of your choice by receiving guidance on filling out applications and writing dynamic and persuasive personal statements.

Teen Internship

This is a volunteer opportunity for teens in grades 10-12 to work with younger campers. Summer internship positions must be applied for and are not automatically guaranteed. Teens who have attended the LIT (Leaders in Training) Camp in previous years are given priority. This also is a great opportunity to get some community service hours, which may be required for high school graduation. Learn about the YMCA's Developmental Assets and how to instill them in younger kids while developing your own. Teens are mentored by senior staff and given regular feedback throughout the summer.

Day and Adventure Camps

Day Camps: numerous options for teens during the Day Camp season.

Adventure Camp: each day is filled with activities developed especially for teens exploring high interest topics. Activities include sports and games, cooking, teambuilding, overnight adventures, artistic expression, service learning projects, weekly field trips, and swimming. This summer program has a strong emphasis on Youth Development, Healthy Living, and Social Responsibility, while enhancing leadership skills and personal growth that will create everlasting friendships and positive memories.

Teen Leadership Camp

This camp gives youth training in leadership skills, communication, teamwork, program planning, and child supervision. Teens will participate in a variety of hands-on learning experiences and learn valuable skills in an atmosphere that fosters confidence, self-esteem and cooperation. Training includes field trip to YMCA Camp Campbell. After a week of training, LITs join groups of younger campers for two weeks of hands-on fieldwork. With assistance from camp staff, leaders help plan, organize and facilitate group activities and special events for Frontier, Discovery, Splash, Sports, and Specialty day campers.

Youth Sports

Offerings at our branches throughout Silicon Valley include youth basketball league and clinics, soccer, martial arts, baseball, football, youth strength training and fitness, rock climbing, ballet, and even Gym Ventures for toddlers. We have options for everyone to play, work on their athletic skills, and stay fit and healthy, all while forging lifelong bonds with others in the community.
